Own First District Championship Since 1931; Tickets on Sale Now

The Eagles have done it!

For the first time in 25 years, Canyon High School has an outright district championship. By downing Dalhart 33-7 last week, the Eagles slid into a solid first place in the district and will meet Spur in a bi-district playoff at 8 p. m. Friday in the new Plainview High School Stadium. Canyon last represented the district in playoffs in 1931. In 1950, the Eagles tied with Phillips for the championship, but Phillips entered the playoffs. Spur was in a three-way tie with Lockney and Abernathy for the championship of District 2-AA, and won the right to play the bi-district game in a place drawing Saturday morning in Ralls. The decision to play the game in Plainview was made at a meeting between Canyon and Spur officials Saturday night in Plainview. Canyon was represented by Coach Guy Harrison, Superintendent Joe Gibson and School Board President Newton Crain.

Spur is the owner of a six win-two loss-one tie record for the season, and a five win-one loss district record. The South Plains team lost to Abernathy by 23-0; to Hamlin 18-12, and to Anson 19-6. They tied 13-13 with Matador.

In the rest of the season, Spur defeated Lockney 26-0, Post 14-13, Slaton 52-6, Tahoka 48-7, Floydada 13-6 and Crosbyton 7-0.

Spur made a total of 191 points during the season and their opponents scored 105 against them. The Eagles, with a 7-2 season, scored 327 points against 90 for their opponents.

The Spur line averages 178 pounds and includes two boys at 190, one at 180 and one at 210. The backfield averages 152 pounds.

The scout report on Spur shows that Gabriel is probably the top hand on the entire team, both offensively and defensively. In the line, Morgan is probably the best player.

Richard Burgess will still be unable to play this week, Coach Harrison said. Burgess suffered a shoulder injury in the Olton game and did not play against Dalhart.

Spur uses the T formation with lots of flankers, the scout report shows. They have not been a passing team this year.

Tickets to the game are on sale at the Canyon Drug and The Pharmacy. Tickets at the stores flank the 50-yard line in the east stands and are $1.50 each. All seats are reserved. Student tickets are 50 cents. The center section of the east stands will be reserved for Canyon until late Friday afternoon when the section will be released to the general public.

Canyon fans are urged to get their tickets before leaving Canyon in order that they may get a good seat in the Canyon section.

The new stadium, with a beautiful turf for this time of year and excellent lighting, seats 8,000 persons. Half of the seats will be reserved for Canyon until late Friday.

The stadium is located on the west side of Plainview. For people driving from Canyon, the best route to the stadium is to turn right at the flasher light this side of the Plainview city limits and go west about eight blocks to the stadium.

The Eagles have an impressive season record statistically. In the 10 games, the team carried the ball 540 times for a total of 2,916 yards against 1372 yards for their opponents.

Attempting 68 passes, the Eagles completed 22, made 458 yards and had seven passes intercepted. Five of the completed passes were good for touchdowns. Their opponents attempted 108 passes, completed 35, made 416 yards and had 12 intercepted by the Eagles.

The leading scorer and ground gainer is halfback Harlie Adams. He made 126 points on 21 touchdowns, one-third of the Eagle scores; ran 1,107 yards in 183 carries with the ball—again, one-third of the rushing yards by the team. He caught two passes, one for a score, and threw one completed pass. He averaged 110.7 yards per game and 6.05 yards per carry.

Adams scored more points than all of Canyon's opponents and lacked only 265 yards making as many as the 10 opponents.

He was followed by halfback Don Britain for scoring and rushing. Britain made 101 points on 15 touchdowns and 11 of 19 extra points. He ran with the ball 137 times for 826 yards. He caught eight passes, scored on two of them, and made 169 yards on passes.

Fawn Added to Park Menagerie

A new deer has been added to the wildlife population of Palo Duro State Park.

Game Warden Pat Donnelly of Littlefield donated a fawn to the park through Game Warden Woody Pond of Canyon. The fawn is being kept in a cage near the entrance gate of the park until it grows older and gets tamer.

The fawn is about four months old.

Country Club Sets Open House

In celebration of the 50th anniversary of the Canyon Country Club, the members are planning an open house Sunday at the club grounds northwest of Canyon.

The club is not only celebrating an anniversary, but the renewal of their charter, the completion of grass greens on the nine holes of the golf course and an 18-hole putting course. Everyone in the area is invited to use the facilities of the club during the open house.

Available are golf, fishing and picnicking. No green fees will be charged.

During its 50-year history, the club has weathered good years and bad—including two drouth periods that were the worst faced in this area during recent history. Under the leadership of John A. Williams, present president, the club completed the program of the nine grass greens.

The club is now considering an increase in the number of members and will use the money from sale of stock to build a new club house, swimming pool, tennis courts and other recreational facilities. Some 98 per cent of the present shareholders live in Canyon.

All members of the club are permitted to pick a free cabin site in the 253-acres club grounds. Several cabins have been built by members, and others are planning to build.

For further information about the club, contact the secretary, Bill Davis.

Banquet Ducats On Sale Now

Tickets for the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet went on sale this week at the Chamber of Commerce office.

The banquet will be held at 8 p. m. Dec. 13 in the West Texas State cafeteria. Guest speaker will be Dr. J. Hoytt Boles of Denison, a Presbyterian minister.

Chamber Manager Roland Black has asked that as many citizens as possible get their tickets early.

School Loans Land To Little League

The Canyon Independent School Board authorized the northwest corner of the elementary school property for use as a Little League baseball park at a meeting Tuesday night.

Loaning the land does not obligate the school board to aid in financing the park, in keeping it up or perpetuating the program. The park will be available for use as a softball field during school months and part-time during the summer.

In other business, Bob Bellah, president of the P-TA, asked the school board to find a project which the P-TA could work on. Newton Crain, Jack Haley and J. O. Parker will serve as a committee to work with school officials to find such a project.

Lee Foster, school tax assessor-collector, told the board that tax collections are about 70 per cent completed.

As of Nov. 1, school enrollment was 1,128, a drop of six from Oct. 1. However, seven students enrolled Monday. The average daily attendance during the first six weeks in 1956 was 1099.91, while it was 1052.22 during the first six weeks of 1955.

Buffaloes Accept Tangerine Bowl Invite

West Texas State's Buffaloes will play in the Tangerine Bowl New Year's night in Orlando, Fla.

The Herd was issued an invitation to the bowl game Monday night and the invitation was accepted on behalf of the school by Team Capt. Dave Corley. Buster Elliott, chairman of the Tangerine Bowl selection committee, extended the invitation.

The opponent for the Buffaloes has not been selected yet, but the probable selection will be either Florida State or Mississippi Southern. West Texas State will end their season Dec. 1 against Midwestern University in Wichita Falls.

The bowl bid was the second in West Texas State history, the first being the 1951 Sun Bowl game. It will be the first time for a Border Conference team to appear in the Tangerine Bowl and the first time for a West Texas State team to play east of the Mississippi River.

Present plans call for the Buffs to fly to Orlando Dec. 29. If financially possible, the Buffalo Band will accompany the team.

Florida State was offered a bid to the Tangerine Bowl when it downed Mississippi Southern 20-19, but did not immediately accept. It is believed that the nod will go to the Mississippi team if Florida State does not accept.

Florida State, Tallahasse, has won five, lost three and tied one this season. The wins were over Ohio University, 47-7; North Carolina State, 14-0; Villanova, 20-13; Furman, 42-7; and Mississippi Southern.

The losses were to Georgia, 3-0; Virginia Tech, 20-7; and the University of Miami, 20-7. They tied Wake Forest 14-14.

Mississippi Southern of Hattiesbur, has a 7-1 record, losing only to Florida State. They have defeated Louisiana Tech, 14-0; Dayton, 23-6; Southeast Louisiana, 21-14; Memphis State, 27-0; Chattanooga, 33-0; Abilene Christian, 36-6; and Trinity of San Antonio, 30-13.

Florida State will finish its season Saturday against Auburn and Mississippi Southern will finish against Alabama.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. McGregor and children of Ft. Collins, Colo., spent the weekend with the Hugh Greiners and attended Homecoming.

Juvenile Problem Here Can Be Licked if Faced, P-TA Hears

Juvenile delinquency in Canyon is low, according to four law enforcement officials who spoke last week to the P-TA, but there is a juvenile problem which must be faced.

Sheriff L. S. Johnston told the members of the P-TA that "Our biggest problem is the parents." He said the parents of most of the children who get into trouble do not know where their children are at night.

"Quite a few get the feeling that the church will take care of their (the children's) spiritual needs, the teacher will take care of their education and law enforcement will take care of their discipline," he said.

"As a whole, our kids around here are good," the sheriff said.

Dr. Dudley Moore, moderator of the panel that included the sheriff, Chief of Police Ralph Pray, County Judge Roy Joe Stevens, District Attorney A. W. Lair and Joe Findley, said that Canyon has no problem with children using dope. "In children in Canyon we have a drinking problem—but it's far below the national average," he said.

Chief Pray said that the legal definition of a juvenile is a boy between the ages of 10 and 17 and a girl between the ages of 10 and 18. Children below 10 are not responsible, he said.

He told of the organization of a "hot rod" club in Canyon which should take the members off the streets, however he said that most of the members of the club are above the juvenile age.

Judge Stevens told how the office of county judge in this county makes him the juvenile judge. He said his practice has been to ask for aid from Findley whenever possible. When a juvenile is brought to court, he may be declared a delinquent, according to the judge.

"When a child is declared a delinquent, he not only belongs to mama and papa, but to the State of Texas," the judge said.

"Canyon is inclined to be smug," Lair told the group. "We're hesitant to face the fact that we do have a problem and we can't do anything about it unless we face it."

Low Rates Given To County Feeders

Randall County cattle feeders have been added to the list of those who will be eligible for reduced freight rates for hay and roughage according to a telegram from Gov. Allan Shivers to County Judge Roy Joe Stevens.

In part, the telegram said, ". . . I am today designating as entitled to reduced freight rates on hay and roughage . . . those persons in . . . major drought disaster areas whose applications are approved by the county judges of the several counties and who require the hay and roughage for use and not for resale. The import of this action is to extend the benefit of freight rate reduction to all feeders of hay and roughage and not merely to those who have been approved by FHA for federal government subsidies on such feed. . . December 28 and 31 Set for First Teen Age Recreation Programs

Tentative dates of Dec. 29 and Dec. 31 have been set for the first Canyon Community Recreation Center program nights, the junior high school night Dec. 29 and the high school night Dec. 31.

Problems still to be solved before the first recreation night are location for the center, recreation policies and type of recreation.

Riley Troth was elected Tuesday night as permanent chairman of the Community Recreation Center program by committee members and interested parents who attended the meeting held in the Canyon Elementary auditorium.

He will head the executive board composed of Mrs. Jack Swatzell, who was elected secretary of the recreation program, Dr. Dudley Moore, location committee chairman, Mrs. Hatcher Brown, finance committee chairman, and Mrs. John Sims, program type chairman.

The first meeting of the executive board will be Thursday night at 7:30 in the home of Riley Troth. This board is to make basic plans considering the problems of location, finance, policy and type of recreation to be worked on in detail by committee members.

Upon request of the high school student council and preference of the parents, it was decided to have separate recreation nights for the junior high school and high school students. The weeks will be alternated, each having semi-monthly programs.

Attendance or membership cards will be issued to all students who desire to participate in the recreation center. It was suggested that a small fee be charged for the cards.

Approximately 40 parents who attended were given opportunity for open discussion following the reports from committees set up last Thursday. Rev. Winston T. Wilbanks said, "Social dancing is a red flag in the minds of some people and there should be other things to do." He added that there should be nights when there is no dancing, for "there are some young people who feel that it is wrong for them to participate in such activities."

Lt. Col. Edward L. Lindsey told the group that as ROTC commander he could furnish the center with ping pong tables, checkers, badminton sets and other equipment.

The next meeting for parents will be Dec. 20 following the P-TA meeting.

Second Place Float

The shiny-gold float entered by the Lions Club captured second place in the commercial division of the Homecoming Parade.

Wiped Noses to Graduate in '31

By DOVIE CHERRY

Wiping seven little noses with one hand, holding a book in the other hand and retaining one's sanity through four years of college is not an easy task. Mrs. Dollie Chamberlin Robinson of San Clement, Calif., will tell you that, for in 1931 when she walked across the stage to receive her degree from West Texas State, not only her mother and father but her husband and seven children were there.

Saturday at the 25th anniversary of the Class of 1931, Mrs. Robinson was here to celebrate the occasion with 42 of her former classmates and relive all those memories. Smiling proudly, she said, "I don't know how I did it, but I did." She added, "I believe I set a record."

No doubt she did, but like most records, it looks as if hers will soon be equaled, for Noah Arnpriester, who is enrolled in WT now, also has seven children. But Mrs. Robinson still has to her credit the fact that her college years were during the depression.

After graduation, Mrs. Robinson accepted the position as supervisor of Samnorwood School, and the even harder times started again. One year after Mrs. Robinson's proud moment at graduation, Mr. Robinson died. The task of raising and educating seven children was large, but Mrs. Robinson was determined to meet it. She went to California, set up a real estate business, raised her seven children and sent them through school.

One daughter, Catherine, graduated from West Texas and two sons, Arthur and Bill, attended for 1 and 1½ years respectively. Dollie who was in nursery when her mother was attending college graduated from UCLA; Theresa graduated from Texas Tech; Sam from USC as a law student; and Nelson, who was in training school here when a younger, finished at Texas University.

I retired last year, but I'm going back to work," Mrs. Robinson said happily. She was having a wonderful time Saturday, and told eagerly about the trip she plans to make to San Angelo and New Orleans to see her four grandchildren.

What's her secret for success? Maybe it lies in her statement, "I love life. I love people."

This is only one of the post-graduation histories of the graduates of 1931; what about the rest of the 108 members of that class?

Nine are deceased. Eleven live here in Canyon. They are Lurline Bowman, Durward A. Brown, Hatcher Brown, Mrs. C. A. Murray, Minerva Albessa Stephenson, Mrs. Ed Weeks, Mrs. C. E. Clark, J. L. Gilmore, Dr. R. P. Jarrett, Mrs. James C. Jennings, Mrs. Fred Scott Mrs. Larry E. Holman and Mrs. Reeves Donnell.

Here's a "Stork Special" that really fits into the fictional idea of how Texans live, and it's about one of Canyon's better-known citizens. From Big D, by Paul Crume, in The Dallas Morning News:

"J. Evetts Haley, the cow-country historian, rancher, character and sometime candidate for Governor, became a grandfather recently but not without something of a fuss.

"Early in October, the J. Evetts Haley Jrs., who live here in Dallas, had a baby boy. They named him J. Evetts III, and young Haley started trying to telephone his dad the news. This was on a Thursday. After two days of telephoning all around West Texas, young Haley gave up and mailed his dad a picture of the first grandchild.

"Among others, he had called his uncle, John Haley, at Kermit, and Dallas friends of the Haleys kept trying to reach the grandfather. J. Evetts Jr. finally got word of his dad. A family friend in another state telephoned congratulations and the word that Haley senior was at the Spearman ranch where there was no telephone.

"Haley finally came into Canyon from the ranch, and John Haley got him on the line.

"They talked cattle business awhile, and then John Haley asked his brother what they had decided to name the new grandchild.

"'Oh, he hasn't come yet,' said Haley authoritatively. 'He's not due until Oct. 28.'

"'That's what you think,' the brother told him. 'You'd better telephone Dallas and find out about it.'

"The grandfather put a call through to his son in Dallas and wanted immediately to know what the new grandson looked like.

"'If you'll go down to the post office and pick up your mail,' said J. Evetts Jr., 'you'll find a picture that'll show you.'

"That was the end of it except that Dan Smoot, who was still trying to reach the grandfather, finally did. He asked Haley whether he had heard the news.

"'Yes,' said Haley. 'My brother John called me from down at the lower ranch. He is a good cowman and keeps track of all the calving.'"

There's a theory about elections that says the percentage a candidate wins in the absentee balloting will be within two or three per cent of the total vote he gets from the entire county. I suppose there are a lot of "if's" in the theory, but it seems to work out pretty well in Randall County.

In the last general election, the absentee vote showed 63.3 per cent of the ballots favoring the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket. When the final count was made over the county, the percentage the ticket gained was 62.9. And that's much less than one per cent.

In the governor's race, Price Daniel polled 81 per cent of the votes in the absentee balloting, and 84 per cent in the total balloting. That's within the limits.

The next time there's an election, you might be able to do a little predicting about the final outcome by figuring the percentages of the absentee vote. The biggest trouble with the method is that sometimes it takes almost as long to count the absentee votes as it does the votes in the regular boxes. Absentee vote counting is a much bigger job.

Some pretty Sunday afternoon, drive down to the other side of Wayside and take a look at the new highway being pushed across the canyon by the highway department. That's an example of really rugged road building.

The new highway cuts down the sheer south wall of the canyon, swoops to the creek bed then climbs up the other side in a series of smooth curves.

The bridge to be built across the creek is something over 1,000 feet long and it won't be too far above the stream level. But the piling will be driven 50 to 60 feet under the sand, according to Chili Smith, the district highway engineer. They'll have to be that deep to get firm footing.

Construction on the bridge is being held up for lack of steel. Smith said the "H" beams needed for the piling are harder to get than "I" beams.

Down in that area, Palo Duro Canyon is an impressive sight. The typography is ever bit as rugged as it is in the state park and the canyon is much larger. You can cross the canyon on the old road, which winds its way down the south wall a couple of miles west of the new highway being built.

It will be a long time before the new highway is finished The only way down on the south side is by what Smith calls the "jeep road." I tried to climb it in my car, and got stuck about half way up. I felt bad about not being able to make the climb until Smith told me that occasionally jeeps using four-wheel drive get stalled.

Just got a'hold of a calendar of special days, weeks and months for 1957. You know, National Lollipop Lickers Week and the like. Don't laugh, there are actually some events listed funnier than that.

Try "Louisiana Yam Supper Season." Or "Odorless Decoration Week." Or "Take Tea and See Week." Or "Large (Economy) Size Week." Or "National Colorado Beef Week." Or "Kraut and Frankfurter Week."

Two outfits missed the boat, it seems to me. The Canned Hamburger Institute declared "National Canned Hamburger Month" from May 1 to 31. But "National Pickle Week" lasts only from May 23 to June 1. I don't know what we'll do the first three weeks of the month.

In September there's "Visit Your Dealer Week," but I know of lots of dealers who won't be around if we all wait until September to do our visiting.

How about these: "100 Percent Maple Syrup Week;" "Butter Baked Turkey Time;" "Kraut, Pork 'n Apple Dinner Season;" and "National Can Opener Week."

Whee!-! It's going to be fun next year. There's "National Coin Week." And from May 11 to 18 it's "Let's Go Fishing." In September there's "Rock 'n Roll Week." April 11, designated "Coffee Day," might be a full day of coffee breaks.

The National Laugh Foundation is going to keep us busy laughing. There's "National Laugh Week," "American Comedy Week," "National Fun Day," and "Pass the Laugh Week."

June 20 to 29 is "Mayonnaise and Salad Dressing Week." In April and May there's "Clean Oil Month." March is to be "Cottage Cheese-Cling Peach Salad Time." February is "Ice Cream 'n Cherries Month." (Oddly enough, from Feb. 3 to 9 is "National Weight Watchers Week.") Coupled in the same month, March, are "One-Dish Meals with Cheese" and "Salad 'n Ry-Krisp Month."

My favorite, maybe, is "International Buttermilk Bread for Flavor Week," April 21-27.—BC

My father had a sense of humor.

One day, a lady stepped on the scales in his grocery store in Brownwood. He was standing behind her and he put his foot on the scales. The weight indicated caused the lady to be astonished and the bystanders were amused.

My father also had a bit of a temper.

We got off of a train in a small town and he asked the hack-driver to take us to the leading hotel. The man drove to the square, which was two or three blocks away, turned around, drove back to the depot, crossed the railroad tracks and said, "There you are."

My father's vocabulary was very expressive.

Traveling with him was an adventure for his little son. On one occasion, we got off a train rather late at night and walked two miles to an inland town. The air was cool and our pace was brisk. The sky was powdered with stars. I wasn't tired and sleepy but was filled with the sheer joy of being alive.

Another time—it might have been that same trip, we went to the railroad station, which was closed. There were no other passengers. It was at night. My father had me gather paper and a few scraps of wood, which he piled on the track. In the distance, the headlight of the train could be seen. My father drew a match and lit a bonfire. The town was a "flag stop" and this was the way he flagged the train.

It was fun to be with my father.

Many years ago, there was a financier in a Texas city who, so the story goes, wanted to appear poorer than he was—maybe it was to avoid taxes or to conceal assets from a partner. He called in two long-time employes and entrusted each of them with a million dollars to hold for him. Several months later, he called them into his office again and said, "All right, I'll take back my $2,000,000." The employes looked at him and at each other and one asked, "What $2,000,000?" And the other echoed, "Yes—what $2,000,000?"

So they lost their jobs, good ones, too; must have been drawing at least $250 a month each.

In a straight-through test run, they rolled over the famous ALCAN Highway to Alaska—in less than 45 hours (normally a 72-hour run). Here's proof-in-action of power that'll handle your toughest jobs—and keep coming back for more!

Whatever your job, there's an Alcan-proved Chevrolet Task-Force truck ready right now to save you time and money!

Six new Task-Force huskies made the run. And six ultra-modern Chevy engines proved their power and performance—with gas mileage up to 18.17 miles per gallon! Two of the engines were not stopped once, and they hummed along at peak efficiency the entire 1,520 miles!

Chevy's big V8's—including the new 283-cu.-in. Super Taskmaster—turned in top performance jobs. They hauled typical loads up and down towering grades and through washouts that sucked wheels into hub-deep mud. They roared on through miles of heavy dust that narrowed visibility to a few hundred feet. And in spite of the varying altitudes and temperatures, not a single truck was forced to drop out or turn back! Stop by and see them soon!

Alcan run supervised, certified by the AAA.

There are washerMan's blues, as I have been told, with which a new blue detergent has absolutely nothing to do. What's more these washerMan's blues don't necessarily happen on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday, Sunday or any other day of the week, which all makes a very sad and serious condition.

WasherMan's blues are very strange, they only happen to men—only women get washerWoman's blues. Now please, don't quit, I have something important to say. You see, WasherMan's blues happen to men because of women. It's quite unfair, we really don't do a thing.

These blues are very particular; they only happen to certain men, owners of washatoriums, help-yourselfies, or Willie's Wash. It doesn't matter what the name, the important thing is that clothes can be washed there. With the arrival of the woman, she's always a sweet lady because we all are, and her bundle of clothes, there's danger that the blues may arrive with her. To show you what I mean, I give you a case. A lady arrives, she's sweet, she brings her wash and picks out a washing machine—the one in the corner because it's nearest the Coke machine and a lady needs nourishment when she's working. Everything's fine. The machine is just dandy (oh, it does run a little bit slow, but that doesn't cause much fretting), the soap's in the wash, the clothes are sorted, the machine's humming, chugging or whatever they do. Everything is lovely.

Or it was. Our lady, humming merrily, starts to run the clothes through the wringer (I wonder how since clothes are considered rather inanimate) but she does, and shades of Aunt Lizzy's hair, it happens. She strikes the first blow to the blues by getting clothes caught in the wringer which made the stupid thing spin like an intoxicated merry-go-round.

Mr. Owner looks up, tries to smile, but he only succeeds looking like a bulldog who lost his last bone. The lady isn't smiling either. After all, it's not pleasant to have a wet sheet slapping her in the face each time the wringer comes round and almost getting her head in the washer trying to stop the mad contraption.

But the owner is quite experienced at taking care of such catastrophies and heroically he steps to the machine and with a skillful and brave hand pulls out the plug.

Well, the lady blushes, apologizes, I told you she was sweet, swears a bit, not too sweet, and like a woman faced with necessity in time of need, gets out the wash. You betcha, women in these days are no sissies.

That even wasn't so bad, just the usual, and Mr. Owner is once again his courteous, helpful self. He goes about his business, briskly checking in and checking out customers, lending a hand when needed. His virtues are once again golden.

Uh, oh, look who's back. He just did and Mr. Owner's virtues at once become slightly tarnished, for it's her. She comes every Tuesday morning, and every Tuesday, faithful as Ma Brown's blueing, there's tragedy. It haunts this poor lady; she must be a Charles Adam creation.

In 30 minutes she's running true to form. The water in her wash tub is too cool, so she reaches for the hot water hose, and in that moment sixth sense sends a chill up Mr. Owner's spine. With the speed of a veteran fireman, she has the water on, but alas, it isn't pointed at the tub. No, but at the unsuspecting lady directly in front. In that moment a four alarm siren sounds off, and it was a she-siren but she wasn't wearing a long slinky, black gown. She was only wearing a house dress, but in that moment she was hot stuff. Wow!

Our unlucky lady is abashed. "But I didn't know the pressure was so strong," she whimpers. Well, how could she, the lady has only been washing here for the past year.

As we turn another page in the play-by-play account of the washerMan's blues, we find Mr. Owner a bit edgy after that last ordeal, so he decided to leave the ladies and attend to pick-up and delivery trade. He answers the phone. "Hello. Yes, Mrs. Jones. No, Mrs. Jones, I'm quite sure we didn't lose your sheets. Positive. Very well, we'll look again."

When the owner hangs up the phone, the time is 10:05 a. m. At 11:05, "Hello, Mrs. Jones. No, we haven't found your sheets." At 1:05 p. m., "Mrs. Jones, we have not found your sheets." 2:05, "No." 3:05, "No, ma'am." At 4:05, "Hello, Mrs. Jones. No . . . oh, you found your sheets. You didn't send them. That's all right. We understand." Sure he does, like grandmother understands Elvis Presley.

Between 10:05 and 4:05, Mr. Owner hasn't exactly been looking peacefully for a sheet. Things have been mighty ginger for him. One lady sent her clothes. She also included a bottle of bleach, well hidden in the bottom of the basket, so that her husband who threw them casually in the trunk of the car didn't know it was there, and what a grand surprise it was for the laundry employee when she began sorting clothes, and what a surprise the lady had when she received a striking white pair of jeans, a polka dot skirt (she liked it better all red), and a handsome hole in hubby's white shirt.

"They've ruined my clothes," she cried, and being pregnant she became doubly excited. As her husband drove madly to the laundry, which was only one block from the hospital, the Mrs. holding her head, pedestrians were heard to remark, "I didn't know she was expecting her baby so soon."

In the couple dashes, indignant and horrified. Their claims come in loud and clear. But the owner is a pretty smart fellow and rather experienced in this sort of thing. "Were you in a hurry this morning?" the owner asks the angry husband. "I guess I was, but what has this to do with our clothes?" "Plenty," says the owner in his most Sherlocky voice. "Follow me."

He goes to the car, opens the trunk, runs his finger across the floor board, gives a chuckle of unholy glee and says, "Ah, ha! Just as I thought. Bleach!" The couple's departure was quiet, and on the slow trip home, a neighbor was heard to say, "I tell you it's a shame the way they run mothers in and out of hospitals these days. Why it's like an assembly line."

Nothing much else happened that day. A wringer broke when a lady tried to run her 9x12 rug through (weak wringer; we ladies wouldn't tear up a wringer, we don't know how to go about it); a few kids got their fingers caught in wringers; the bubble gum machine broke, two ladies got so involved talking that one machine ran over; the drain stopped up; the owner's own kid came down with measles; and the delivery boy got the laundry truck stuck in the mud. Nothing much.

Hostesses alternated in the reception room where the table, laid with a white appliqued linen on organdy cloth and pointed with silver, was centered with an arrangement of gold and yellow crysanthemums. A bridal doll featured in the flower arrangement and a golden bridal pathway tied with gold wedding bells completed the table decor.

Sheriff Returns $500 Reward Check To Widow of Robert Boyd Chapman

A $500 reward check for the capture of Clarence Edward Young, convicted slayer of Robert Boyd Chapman, was returned by Sheriff L. S. Johnston to the widow of Chapman.

The check was sent to Sheriff Johnston last week by Mrs. Chapman. In a letter accompanying the check, Mrs. Chapman thanked the sheriff for everything he had done in solving the murder and for his kindness while Mrs. Chapman was in Canyon for the trial of Young.

Another note in the letter, from Mrs. Chapman's aunt, Mrs. Ruth Howe, also thanked the sheriff and Mrs. Johnston for their kindness. Mrs. Howe accompanied her niece to Canyon for the trial.

In returning the check, Sheriff Johnston requested that the money be put in a trust fund for the education of the two Chapman children, or be used in any other way that Mrs. Chapman sees fit.

"My reward in this case was in the apprehension and conviction of the guilty party," the sheriff said in his letter. "This falls under the duties of my office as sheriff of Randall County."

Chapman's body was found in the roadside park south of Canyon on March 17. Young was arrested in May in Wichita, Kan., and was found guilty of the murder in a 47th District Court trial here in October. He was given a sentence of life in prison.

Mrs. Holman Hostess To Wesley Bible Class

Mrs. Zoe Holman was hostess to the Woman's Wesley Bible class of the First Methodist Church with a covered dish luncheon. The group enjoyed a tour of Mrs. Holman's home and were delighted with the arrangement of the home.

A brief worship service, songs and conversation were the order of the day.

Present were the Rev. and Mrs. Doyle Ragle and Johnny, guests, and Mrs. R. M. Barton, Mrs. Rosa Hungate, Mrs. E. C. Penick, Mrs. J. L. Moore, Mrs. I. C. Jenkins, Mrs B. H. Haynes, Mrs. J. A. Wiseman and Miss M. Moss Richardson, members. Mrs. Lillie Foster, class teacher, was ill and unable to attend.

While all the grumbling about two Thanksgivings is excusable, it's certainly nothing to fret over. It's true there's some confusion, especially if one part of the family gets the fourth Thursday and the other the fifth. But maybe Americans have so much to be thankful for they need a couple of special holidays in which to count blessings.

So far we've been surprised to hear only complaints, that Ike — or FDR — or Shivers — or whomever — got us crossed up on Thanksgiving Day and we'll probably never have it straight again. Well, maybe the mixup is silly, and no doubt it should be settled once and for all. But for our part, we're kinda grateful for the chance to double up. We plan to spend our first one enjoying the job we're lucky enough to hold — followed, of course, by a first rate turkey dinner.

The second one, which will be quieter at our house on account of there'll hardly be anyone else here, we expect to spend mostly thinking. About how we take freedom for granted, when there are still normal human beings in other countries who have to fight off enslavement. About how, rich or poor, there are so many, many luxuries we can enjoy. About the pleasure and sweetness of a united family, of loyal friends, of good national leaders who bear the brunt of worry for us.

In this land of many freedoms and more opportunities, why not two days a year for being thankful?

Cafeteria Work Begins Soon

Construction will begin immediately on an addition which will virtually double seating capacity of the West Texas State College cafeteria, according to President James P. Cornette.

A contract for $199,340 has been awarded to the Floyd Richards Construction Company of Amarillo; completion date is expected by September, 1957. The Richards company also was awarded both contracts for construction of new dormitories for men and women, valued at $474,431 and $502,070 each.

The new addition, to be built of brick matching the student union building, will give the cafeteria two additional serving lines and will seat 350 people. The combined facilities will seat about 750 persons at a time, and at least 1,000 may be able to eat within an hour.

A number of walk-in refrigeration units will be placed at the rear of the new addition, and after moving present refrigeration units, additional kitchen space will be gained.

The new unit and present cafeteria, including the entrance lobbies, will be air conditioned, and a patio between the cafeteria and student union will be walled in for additional cafeteria room, to be used mainly for overflow crowds.

A decorative entrance will be added on the west side of the new unit, facing Highway 87, and a bricked in court will hide the service entrance. Walls between the present structure and the addition will remain, but archways will join the units where windows are presently located.

Thanksgiving Topic Given at Amnity Club

The Amnity Club met Friday in the home of Mrs. R. E. Gill with Mrs. J. A. Wright, Mrs. T. T. Fain, and Mrs. J. C. Dowd as co-hostesses. Mrs. Wright was in charge of the meeting.

Roll call was answered by each one giving her first remembrance of Thanksgiving. Mrs. Gill told of the Pilgrims on the First Thanksgiving. Mrs. Dowd gave a reading, "Thankfulness," taken from the Leaves Of Gold. Mrs. Fain sponsored games on Thanksgiving.

Pumpkin pie with whipped cream, mints, tea and coffee were served to Mrs. Duckworth and Mrs. Birdie Wills, guests; and to Mrs. T. W. Henderson, Mrs. Mary Burtz, Mrs. W. I. Wester, Mrs. W. T. Davis, Mrs. Pennie Cox, Mrs. Henry Cone, Mrs. S. L. Terry, Mrs. Clara Long, Mrs. R. D. Lowry, and the hostesses, members.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. W. T. Davis, Dec. 14, with a covered dish luncheon.

Unite Now!!

In unity there is strength.

The football team has cooperation within its ranks. That is the main reason that they have done as well as they have this year. Sensational players and excellent coaches don't make a team. It's team work that makes a team.

The principle applies to other groups, not just a team. The band, the annual staff, The Eagle's Tale, and others all work together.

There are just five students taking journalism; therefore each person must coordinate his work wtih the work of the others. One student may gather the information for a story, and another write it. At other times two students working together write a story. A staff member may have the responsibility of having a picture made for the paper, but he and the editor must plan it so that the layout of the paper will appear correct.

There are points in our school where cooperation could be improved, however. A class or two has several factions fighting each other for control of the class. Some organizations are similarly split.

Let's all get together and make our school strong.

Ragle Stresses Purpose of Life

Purpose in life is the key factor if one is to win out over the obstacles of life and become a success. This was the main idea that Rev. Doyle Ragle, pastor of the First Methodist Church, brought out in his talk to the student body at an assembly. He went on to state that one's purpose was to be based, foremost, upon God. In order to achieve success one must also plan and practice.

Prin. J. E. Miller gave a short pep talk preceding Rev. Ragle's talk. Mr. Miller's talk was primarily characterized by the idea challenging the student body to develop the will to win. His idea is that unity is the major factor in the winning of anything.

The assembly was held Thursday at 10:15 a. m.

Wagner Elected FTA Treasurer

Delores Wagner was elected recording secretary of FTA District IX on Nov. 6 at the annual FTA district meeting at West Texas State College.

Fern Ramsey, Larry Henley and Konnetta McClanahan were other officers elected. They are from Tulia, Borger and Palo Duro, Amarillo, respectively.

Jimmye Hiltbrunner gave a speech on "Teaching, the Profession for Me." She was a candidate for Miss FTA.

The winners of the Mr. and Miss FTA contest were Marshall Mason and Anita Gordon, both of Amarillo High School.

The A Cappella Choir of WTSC and the Talent Show was the entertainment for the day. The Future Teachers from CHS presented a skit entitled "FTA Hit Parade." It was a part of the talent show which was made up of talent from all the schools who wished to participate.

There were around 600 students from 26 schools attending the meeting.

On Monday evening, Nov. 19, the FTA celebrated Thanksgiving by having a dinner. The main dish was turkey a la king. It was held in the home of Liston Coleman, one of the members.

Dr. Thomas D. MacOwan was the speaker for the evening. He spoke on the choice of a grade level in which to teach. He is assistant professor in the education department at the college.

Essay Stresses Traffic Safety

Traffic safety is important to everybody. It is a necessity to safeguard life in this modern world. There are several important factors we must consider in discussing this vital problem.

One of the most important factors is the driver. We must have good drivers. A good driver is a courteous driver. He considers other people when driving. He always yields the right of way regardless of whether it is his duty to do so. He obeys every warning sign and he watches carefully for pedestrians, especially children and elderly people.

A good driver is sensible. He never gives in to childish impulses to show off behind the wheel. A good driver also manages his car well. A person could be careful and courteous behind the wheel, but if he can't handle his car well he is not a good driver. So, in discussing good drivers, we must remember that courteousy, safety, and ability to handle a car are necessary.

A driver must also be physically fit. For example, he must not be under the influence of alcohol when driving. He must have coordination in mind and body so that he can handle difficult situations in a split second. Thus, mental and physical fitness are both important to a driver.

If there are to be good drivers in the future, young people of today need good training. Driver's Education provides this training. It teaches on how to be a safe, dependable driver and is an important factor in traffic safety.

Yes, traffic safety is, indeed, a matter that involves many details. We can have traffic safety if the preceding suggestions and precautions are followed. But, remember, to have traffic safety, we must have the complete cooperation and support of YOU, the public.

Being interviewed by Eagle's Tale reporter Dusty Hiltbrunner is Helen Guthrie, one of CHS's freshmen. Helen was placed in a cast covering her entire body to correct a curvature of the spine and has been in the cast for 10 months.

Licenses Issued To Driving Class

Passing tests given by the Texas Highway Department, the driver's education class received restricted operator licenses. A licensed driver must be in the front seat during the time that the students are driving.

Arlene Boehning, Marilyn Davis, Marcella Moore, Peggy Garrison, Charles Nester and Robert Dowse passed the written portion which covers the rules and signs. The driving portion of the test was not given. Guy Harrison is the course instructor.

Patrolman Ed Elien was at the high school Nov. 1 to give the tests. He returned on the 14th to regive two tests.

Puppet Program Presented Here

Robert Mason, popular stage and television performer, presented a new miniature revue entitled "Puppet Varieties." The maionette revue was presented Nov. 21.

Mason, who is quite a veteran of the theater, has a background which includes appearances in over 24 motion picture roles during the last war. In the motion picture, "The Greatest Show on Earth," he performed as a clown. Mason has also performed many times with the Pittsburgh Civic Opera Company in Pittsburgh, Pa.

"The World's Smartest Dummy," Reggie Dixon, was the star of an outstanding display of the art of ventriloquism. As an extra feature for youth groups, Mason took Reggie apart and explained in detail just how the art of "throwing the voice" is accomplished.

The Punch and Judy sequence is one of his most popular attractions and is also the oldest. Punch and Judy entertained in a new and modern manner of singing and dancing.

The varieties are direct from a season in New England states and eight weeks in New York City.

Bake Sale Takes Seniors' Interest

Seniors' activities gave precedent to the culinary arts during the two weeks of Nov. 5-17 when students took orders for special kinds of cakes and pies to make money for the senior trip.

Graduation invitations were selected by the seniors on Thursday, from a large selection of invitations. A special committee chose three types which were submitted.

Slides Explained To Two Classes

Miss Marilyn A. Payne, a member of the faculty of CHS, showed slides of Italy to two world history classes. Miss Payne told a story about the slides as they were being shown. She explained how the places she was showing and the things that happened in these places produced our modern world.

Miss Payne showed pictures of places where outstanding people of the old Roman empire had walked and told of their importance. She also told of original ideas that the Romans developed in art and culture, such as the arch and the dome.

Similarities and differences between the old Roman empire and the modern world were pointed out. One impressive similarity was that of the Roman coliseum which corresponds in shape and structure to our modern football stadium.

The slides were shown on Nov. 6 to the world history classes of Miss Mary Carter.

Miss Payne has traveled throughout the United States, Mexico, Canada, and many European countries. The pictures of Italy were taken in the summer of 1954 while she was traveling in Europe.

P-TA Passes Out Recreation Blank

A questionaire was sent out by a committee appointed by the P-TA which was filled out by students and parents.

The questionaire included such questions as:

1. Are you interested in such a program?
2. Would you be willing to help with such a program?
3. What kinds of recreation do you think such a program should include? a. ping pong, b. shuffle board, c. dancing, d. chess, e. checkers, f. darts, g. others.
3. How often do you think a planned program should be held?

Parents interested in a recreational program for young people of Canyon were asked to attend the P-TA meeting last Thursday to set up some form of organization to realize that goal. But the program was voted down.

Helen Guthrie Smiles Easily Though Completely Encased by Body Cast

By Dusty Hiltbrunner

Just a few days ago I entered a house with a smile in it.

This was the home of Helen Guthrie. Upon entering I found Helen lying on her back. In a flash she had rolled herself over and had raised herself on one elbow. Her laughing face peeked out of a cumbersome body cast which extended from the top of her head to just below her knees.

But her spirit was not in the cast. So off we went talking as only two girls can. As we continued I thought of just how brave this girl really is. Let me tell you about Helen.

Helen, who is age 14, was put into a body cast Jan. 6, 1956. The reason for the cast was a curvature of the spine and the cast supported her body as it was rebuilding itself. The cast itself fitted around her head and over the rest of the body. It was curved to the left side so it would aid the spine in strengthening itself. Another reason for the cast was to strengthen her muscles on the weak side. When removed, one of the parts of the cast proved to be five inches thick.

Helen was in the Shrine Hospital at Houston from January until July. While she was in the hospital and during the months at home she continued her school work and she said to me, that it sure was hard doing school work in the cast until she had gotten used to it. It was worth trying because she wanted to be a freshman this year at CHS.

This year Helen was not able to come to the high school when school started because she was still in the cast. Under the direction of teachers who visit and work with her she is continuing her studies.

Helen is studying general math, general science and English.

In asking what her hobby was, I found she had not one but two. First, she enjoys reading as a hobby. She has just finished reading The Foreigner by Malvern and Valley of Rebellion by Cooke. Also she enjoys watching TV. Of course this brought out another question from me. I wanted to know her favorite program, and she said, "I enjoy Tennessee Ernie as a daytime program and I Love Lucy as a comedy in the evening.

Mrs. John Guthrie, who works at Neblett Hospital, left Helen in the care of Helen's younger sister part of the summer. Anne took care of Helen while Mr. and Mrs. Guthrie worked.

Helen is in the Shrine hospital now. The body cast has been removed and a light back cast has been put on. Mrs. Guthrie said, "She really wants to come back to school very soon."

Floats Paraded For Homecoming

Floats for the gala W. T. Homecoming parade on Nov. 17 were entered by several organizations in Canyon High School.

The Future Homemakers of America entered a float portraying the degrees of achievement an FHA girl may earn. They are the junior, chapter and state degrees. Joyce Ricketts was the chairman of the second year homemaking group which made the float.

Red and white, FHA colors, were carried out in the theme of the float. Eight thousand white napkins or 100 boxes of napkins covered the chicken-wire framework. Each degree of achievement, painted in red, was enhanced by red roses, the FHA flower.

This float was sponsored by Mr. Clarence Thompson, a representative from Thompson Hardware.

Colors played an important role in the float of the Future Farmers of America too. Blue and gold, FFA colors, were used throughout the autumn-harvest time theme.

Shocks of golden brown feed on the bed of a truck which had a blue crepe-paper border made an impressive setting for the presentation of the FFA sweetheart, Katy Davenport, who was dressed in a gold formal, and her attendants, Francis Boyd and Florence Clement.

Henson Honored As Girl of Month

Organized Civil Defense units as a way to insure safety during nuclear weapon attack was stressed by R. B. Chapman, safety engineer for the Pantex Ordnance at Amarillo, at the FHA meeting on Nov. 8.

Civil defense is an organization designed principally to prepare people for nuclear attack by the enemy and to give aid in the event of such. Civil Defense also works with other organizations such as the American Red Cross during peacetime to insure safety against the ravages of nature.

In Nevada where atomic bombs are tested, Mr. Chapman witnessed the appalling condition a make-believe city was thrown in when attacked by nuclear weapons. From this experience, it was concluded that the safest place to hide during an attack is in a storm cellar or five feet under the ground.

Mr. Chapman showed a film portraying the formidable results of nature's disasters if not met by aid from Civil Defense. Explanation was given how Civil Defense units could bring relief during and after tornados, floods, and fires.

Beverly Henson, a junior, was chosen FHA Girl of the Month at this meeting. In FHA Beverly is the song leader, and she has achieved her junior and chapter degrees and is working toward her state homemaking degree.

Henson, as she is called by her friends, is an active choir member. Last year she was a representative to the All-State Choir from District 11, and this year she is historian-reporter of the choir. She is also a probationary member of the National Honor Society.

Each month the honor of being Girl of the Month will be bestowed on an outstanding miss who must be active in FHA, have a "B" average, a good citizenship record, and she must be present at the club meeting when nominated.

Polo was developed in India.

Band, Twirlers Perform at Game

The CHS band and the senior twirlers performed at the final home town performance for 1956 on Friday, Nov. 9, when the Eagles played the Olton Mustangs.

The band did an extra lengthy show to climax the football season. Marching on to the field in one large company front was followed by a series of maneuvers which brought the band into its regular marching formation. Next, the band went into a staggered double countermarch and a series of split band minstrel turns to the right and left.

The second half of the show featured the three senior twirlers as soloists. Christina Sikes did an acrobatic baton twirling act; La Verne Riley did a one and two baton solo; and Florence Clement did a fire baton solo.

Monrovia, Liberia, is named for U. S. President James Monroe.

Surprise Party Given for Gibson

Supt. Joe A. Gibson was feted with a surprise birthday party on November 12 by the teachers of the Canyon Public School System.

Presumably on business, Mr. Gibson was brought down to the homemaking department by Mr. J. E. Miller, principal, after school on Tuesday. There he was met by the group of teachers singing "Happy Birthday" in his honor.

A brass planter, as a gift from his friends, was presented to Mr. Gibson by Mrs. Ed Weeks, junior high school teacher. The presentation of the gift was made as Mrs. Weeks read a poem which she composed in honor of Mr. Gibson's birthday.

Voters Like Ike At Canyon High

"I Like Ike" was the sentiment of 80% of the juniors and seniors who voted in the presidential election on Nov. 5. Does it cause you to wonder why high school students could vote and on the day preceding national election day?

Worry no longer, for these students were members of the civics and American history classes under the leadership of Mrs. Dan Sanders, teacher of civics and American history.

Approximately 70% of the votes of the senior and the junior classes were Democratic on the state level. This was a great change over the 20% who cast their votes for the Democrats on the national level.

Incidentally, there were two write-in votes. They were W. Lee O'Daniel and George Schaeffer.

Previous to the mock-election, informal discussions of political questions were held as students became interested and puzzled.

NEWS LETTER

FROM CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS OF THE 18TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

Self-Sufficiency

We have all heard the question many times, "How self-sufficient is the United States?" My experience has been that no matter what individual or group you ask this question, you are likely to come up with a different answer. The truth is that our degree of self-sufficiency changes from day to day.

That in which we are self-sufficient today may be that in which we are lacking tomorrow. This changing situation is due to the speed at which civilization is presently progressing.

The realization of such fact should make us more alert and more vigilant, rather than to cause us to become reconciled to the theory that one country in this world could not possibly be self-sufficient.

The recent eruptions in the Near East should cause us to understand, without any difficulty, that the time may come in the near future when we must be self-sufficient whether we like it or not. Much has been said to the effect that internationalism is a must in the present day world.

I will admit that it is very nice to be able to get along with all foreign governments in a fair and just manner, but we must be sufficiently realistic to understand that this is easier said than done under many circumstances.

For instance, we have tried long and tediously to get along with Russia and to promote a just, fair and reasonable approach by all nations to the problems that continually beset man. Our failure in this respect is clearly shown by the continuous activities of the Russians, and more especially, by their recent activities in Hungary.

This failure is pointed up by the recent activities in the Near East by those nations that we consider our closest and staunchest allies.

Frankly, I think that we should face the issue of the necessity for self-suffiency on the part of this country. There are many things that we use in our daily lives which come from foreign sources. There are likewise many things that we need in the defense of this country for which we are dependent upon foreign sources.

Some of these we have undertaken to stockpile and have protected the figures concerning these stockpiles under a cloak of secrecy. Many of these items we can develop in our own country, yet we have failed to do so simply because they were available from foreign sources. I speak especially of strategic materials and metals.

Minerals and metals that can be developed in this country, but are not, simply because they can be purchased at a cheaper price on the world market. Now economy is one thing, but foolish economy is another.

Sometimes we find that the prices we must pay for some article cannot be measured in dollars and cents. Should the time come, and it very well could in the near future, when we could not reach the foreign sources of some of our strategic minerals and metals, we could find ourselves sorely put to meet the needs of an expanded defense program.

Under such circumstances we would quickly conclude that we had been penny wise and pound foolish. The development of our local sources would require expenditures far beyond that which we had saved by permitting ourselves to depend on foreign countries.

Our country should, to the best of its ability, develop all of our natural resources. This we can do through our free enterprise system and at the same time provide added vigor to our economy. This country must find necessary materials and supplies or suitable substitutes therefor.

We cannot run the risk, in the present world situation, of depending upon any European, Asiatic, African, or Australian source of strategic material.

Dr. Hill and his co-workers, Bud Parker and Don Standley, will nominate a district chairman, two vice chairmen, and members at large for 1957. Election of these members at large will be held on Dec. 17.

Carroll Vaughan, finance chairman, announced next Tuesday as the date for the kickoff breakfast for the Happy finance drive.

Borden Price reported that Post 66 has rechartered with 16 Explorers and the VFW Post as sponsor. Pack 97, which renewed its charter, will hold its annual round-up program tomorrow. Both packs renewed charters with the new expiration date as Dec. 31, 1957. Membership totaled, as of Oct. 31, 81 Cubs, 84 Scouts and 25 Explorers.

It was reported by Wesley Cox that 106 Cubs and 50 Scouts and Explorers worked on the "Get Out the Vote" program Nov. 3.

Frank Kimbrough told of the three Cub basic training sessions which will be held in December and introduced Milton Morris, the council leadership training chairman, who discussed the West Range Training meeting in Roswell, N. M., which he attended along with Jeff Bentley, Bill Phillips and W. M. Teague.

Need $54,000 To Finish Purchases Of Right of Way to Bell Avenue

It will take $54,823.10 to finish purchasing expressway right of way from Canyon to Bell Avenue, Lanham Nelson told the Randall County Commissioners Court Monday afternoon.

Approximately $100,000 remains of the $950,000 bond issue passed for the purchase of right of way from Happy to Amarillo.

Several weeks ago, at the request of Expressway Engineer Byron Reese, the commissioners ordered that purchases of right of way past Bell Avenue be stopped. Reese asked that the portion of the highway from Canyon to Bell be readied first.

A contract was awarded last week by the State Highway Department to Ivan Dement, Contractor, of Amarillo for construction of the first 2.058 miles of the expressway beginning at the intersection of Highways 60 and 87 north of Canyon. The contract covers to the top of Canyon Hill.

District Engineer Chili Smith officially notified the commissioners court of the contract in a letter. He did not indicate when construction might start. The Dement bid was $1,072,000.

The highway commission also awarded a contract of approximately the same amount to a Lubbock contractor for construction of a four-lane highway from Canyon to Happy.

Training Program Slated for Leaders

Cub Scout meetings are to be held tomorrow and Dec. 3 according to W. M. Teague, Boy Scout district executive.

Pack 97 will meet tomorrow at 7 p. m. in Fellowship Hall of the First Baptist Church for reorganization. Jack Walker, Cubmaster, will be in charge. He urges all boys interested in becoming Cub Scouts to attend as a film on the fundamentals of Cub Scouting and the nature of the organization will be shown.

An important training program for den mothers will be held Dec. 3 in the First Presbyterian Church basement. This meeting, originally scheduled for Nov. 7, was postponed because of the illness of the district executive.

Teague said, "It was necessary to change the training course to night sessions because Cub Scout leaders, including 10 mothers, den Cubmaster and Assistant Cubmaster are required to take this training to meet basic training standards of the National Council of Boy Scouts of America."

Parents in the Cub program are invited to attend this training program as well as interested leaders.

P-TA--

Lair said that under the present laws of the state, a parent is not financially responsible for the actions of his children, but said that a move is now underway to ask the legislature to pass such a law.

Texas operates under the "family car doctrine," Lair said. Under that doctrine, a parent is not responsible for his child's actions in the family car unless the parent actually sent the child on an errand. He said the financial responsibility law should be passed, and that parents should be responsible for their children while in a car.

Speaking on organized recreational facilities, Lair said, "I think we're inclined to go overboard in finding a place to send the kids."

Lair said he is not personally against youngsters having "fun," but that fun ceases when property damage begins. He scored the destruction of property last Halloween and during the panty raid at West Texas State last spring.

Joe Findley told the group that they should listen to the children. "Children who are mixed up want someone to listen to them. They also want someone with a good deal of faith in them," he said.

"I think that maybe the record looks better for we older people than it does for the younger one because we tire more easily," he said.

Findley explained that some delinquent children are like porcupines whose quills are turned inward. "Those are easier to work with because they feel remorse," he said.

Others, with the quills turned outward, are hard to reach, he said. Findley defined that type as "jubilant delinquents."

As an aid for combatting delinquency, Findley prescribed "moral upbringing when they are younger than adolescence."

In the business meeting before the discussion, the P-TA adopted a committee report that recommended the P-TA not sponsor a monthly social for high school and junior high students because it is "controversial." The committee also suggested that interested parents form a group to sponsor the socials.

The high school choir sang for the P-TA at the beginning of the program.

Class of '31--

Only 26 live outside Texas, the majority in New Mexico or Oklahoma. Others are in California, Kansas, Colorado, Nevada, Wyoming, Maryland, Arkansas, Arizona and Massachusetts. Dorris Lynne Loudder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Loudder of Canyon, lives in the Canal Zone.

All but one of the class officers were here. The president, Bartow Johnson, died the summer after graduation. Mike Hunt, the vice president, is superintendent of the city schools at Portales, N. M.; Eurith Compton, secretary, owns a men's clothing store at Portales; and Charlsie Mae Harding, treasurer, has been teaching at Clayton since she left West Texas State.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Gillham were the first ones to register at the anniversary reception. He is a '31 graduate. They are living at Clarendon where he teaches vocational agriculture in the high school. While at WT he was editor and business manager of The Prairie. They have one daughter, Martha Beth, 16. "It is a pleasure to see some new buildings we needed so much then," said Gillham.

The Moonlight Masqueraders, a Dixieland group, played together again Saturday for the first time since 1932. Durward Brown played the saxophone, Hatcher Brown, the drums (including a Chinese tom-tom), Red Mallin from Allison played the piano, Bob Daugherty from Liberal, Kan., played the trumpet, and Harry Kelly from Skellytown played the banjo. They reminisced such tunes as "Angry, Five-Foot-Two," and "The Waltz You Saved for Me."

The only two sisters in the class were also here. They are Mrs. C. E. Clark of Canyon and Mrs. Olie Ford of Dallas. Mrs. Clark has lived here all her life.

Fifty of the 99 living are associated with education as teachers, superintendents, principals or librarians. "Doc" Haley, who is principal of the three grade schools at Clayton, N. M., believes that because the '31 class was in college during the depression and industrial and such jobs were scarce that many may have become teachers which seemed more secure work.

If back-slapping, hugging and kissing were any indication, the class of '31 had a wonderful time getting together again. They may have aged a bit, but the spirit is the same.

Eagles Dump Dalhart, 33-6

Canyon High School won the District 1-AA championship Friday night in Dalhart by dumping the Wolves 33-7 in the last regular game of the season. The Eagles will play Spur for bi-district at 8 p. m. Friday in Plainview.

Led by Harlie Adams, who made three touchdowns to bring his season scoring record to 21 touchdowns, the Eagles controlled the game from the first quarter on. Canyon scored in all four quarters, while the lone Dalhart score came near the end of the game.

Adams' scores came on a two-yard buck, a one-yard plunge and a 43-yard pass from Charles Neblett. George Snapp intercepted a Dalhart pass on the Dalhart 45 and raced to the goal line in the third quarter and A. L. Pruett ran 19 yards in the fourth quarter for the final touchdown. Neblett kicked three of the five extra points to make his season total 20 points in 30 kicks.

The game began with no wind to mar the cold night. The Eagles kicked off and Dalhart began scrimmage play on the 30 yard line. Two runs took the ball to the 39, but a backfield in motion penalty on third down put the ball back to the 34. On the next play, a Dalhart back fumbled the ball and Snapp recovered on the 35.

The Eagles were immediately penalized for offensive holding and the ball went back to the Dalhart 45. On the next play, Britain fumbled on the 43 and Dalhart recovered.

The Wolves worked the ball up to the 49, were penalized back to the 44, ran to the 48 and fumbled. Don Britain recovered at that point.

Eddie Boydston took the ball on the next play, ran one yard and fumbled, to give Dalhart possession again.

Sidney Fry made two yards, Ronnie Ledbetter lost four and Gary Finch lost two more. Ledbetter kicked to the Canyon 43.

The Eagles began the march for their first score from that point, making the goal line in 11 plays.

Adams carried to the 47, then crossed the mid-stripe to the Dalhart 48. Boydston made four for the first down, Britain made five and Adams six for another first-and-10. Adams carried for three more then went to the 28. Boydston ran 18 yards to the 10 for another first down.

Britain went six yards, Boydston bulled to the two and Adams sliced over from there. Neblett's extra point kick was good and the clock showed 4:12 left in the first quarter.

Taking the ball on the Dalhart 11, Fry carried to the 31, Ledbetter went to the 40, then was stopped for no gain. Dalhart fumbled on the next play, losing eight yards to the 32 and Canyon took over again.

In nine plays, the Eagles were across the goal line again. Boydston made four yards, Britain three and Neblett picked up the first down on the 21. Boydston carried for four, Britain went to the 14 and Adams made a first down on the 11.

Britain made three to the eight and Dalhart was penalized to the one-yard line for unnecessary roughness. Adams went over on the next play. Neblett's kick was no good. The quarter ended as Adams went over the goal line and the teams switched ends for the kickoff.

Dalhart knocked on the Eagle's nest door following the kickoff. Fry took the ball from the Dalhart 27 to the 44 and Finch scooted on a long run that ended on the Canyon 28 when he stepped out of bounds. A series of short-yardage plays, seven of them, took the ball to the Canyon 3, with the down marker showing second down. Raymond Root lost five yards on the next play, tried a pass, then Ledbetter was stopped on the five to give Canyon the ball on downs.

Boydston took the ball out of immediate danger by making five yards to the 10. Britain went to the 13 and Adams made a first down on the 18. The Eagles were penalized back to the seven for holding. Britain carried 20 yards to the 27 on the next play. Boydston was stopped for no gain and Adams made a first down on the 32.

Neblett carried to the 37, then attempted a pass. Adams made two to the 39 and Britain went to the 41, but the ball went over on downs.

Dalhart lost three, then lost two more back to the 46 and fumbled the ball.

Neblett passed to Britain for 10 yards to the Dalhart 43. On the next play, Adams took a screen pass from Neblett on the line of scrimmage and began a run behind three blockers. Following his blockers down the left sideline, Adams broke free around the 20 and headed for the goal line. As he neared pay dirt, one Dalhart safety stood facing him, ready for the tackle. Running right into his face, Adams stopped, shifted and faked right by his would-be tackler.

Neblett's extra-point try was no good. The clock showed 2:40 left in the half.

Dalhart took the kickoff and moved from their own 22 to the Canyon 47 in eight plays to end the half.

Canyon took the second-half kickoff and Adams ran back from the Canyon 18 to the Dalhart 35. Britain went to the 27 and Boydston got a first down on the 23.

Britain lost two yards then picked them up again. Neblett tried a pass, then tried another—one that was almost completed to Adams. Adams was injured on the play and left the field.

The Wolves managed to work the ball up to the 38 in six plays, but Ledbetter kicked. A bad pass that Ledbetter fumbled ended up with a net of three yards for the kick and Canyon took over on the Dalhart 41.

Britain carried to the 39, Adams to the 33 and Britain made the first down on the 28. Canyon was penalized 15 yards to the 43 for holding and Neblett passed to Boydston for 14 yards to the 29. Neblett attempted a pass, then Adams lost four yards and the ball went over on downs.

Dalhart began a march that ended in tragedy. Finch ran to the 34, Fry picked up a first down on the 43, Finch ran to the 45. Ledbetter threw an incompleted pass, then tossed another.

Slicing in front of the intended receiver, Snapp gathered in the pass at exactly the right instant and ran 45 yards to the goal line. Neblett's kick was good and the score stood at 26-0 with 2:31 left in the third quarter.

Dalhart took the kickoff and moved from their 26 to the Canyon 48 to lose the ball on a kick to the 20 as the third quarter ended.

Moving from the Canyon 24, where the ball was taken from the Dalhart kick, Britain moved to the 27 then lost two to the 25. Pruett got a first down on the 44 and Adams ran to the 47. Britain got another first down on a 28-yard run to the Dalhart 19.

Pruett took over from there and ran the remaining yardage for the final Canyon touchdown. Neblett's kick was good to make the score 33-0 with 9:42 left to play in the game.

Dalhart took the kickoff back to the 28 moved it to the 29 and kicked to the Canyon 38. Adams ran to the 41 and Britain fumbled and lost the ball on the 41.

Ledbetter threw an incompleted pass then ran to the 39. He threw one to Finch on the 15 for a first down. On the next play, Ledbetter ran around right end, was knocked out of bounds on the 14 and Canyon was penalized to the one yard line for unnecessary roughness.

With first and 10 on the one, Root lost two yards, Finch regained them and Root bulled through to paydirt for the first Wolf score. Finch ran for the extra point with 3:50 to play.

The Eagles took the Dalhart kickoff on the 35, ran it back to the 42 and settled down to kill the rest of the game. Although Canyon apparently was not trying to make another score, the team moved the ball down to the Dalhart 14. The second string was put into the game and a series of excessive timeouts and delay of the game penalties lost the Eagles a net of four yards. The game ended with the ball on the Dalhart 18.

Statistics of the game were:

A Sport Reports

By DICK KRANZ

Canyon, with one of its best teams in history, will represent District 1-AA in the chase for the state Class AA title. The Eagles coasted through the district easily, averaging 40 points a game in sweeping to five victories.

Spur's Bulldogs, with a 6-3-1 record, will be the bi-district foe for the Eagles at 8 p. m. Friday in Plainview. Overall Canyon had a 8-2 record, losing to Dumas and Littlefield, both Class AAA members.

Coach Guy Harrison's Eagles will be favored over Spur, the District 2-AA representative.

In the final week of District 1-AA play, the Dimmitt Bobcats, paced by their great little back Keith Lowe, upset the Olton Mustangs and thus gained a tie for second place with Olton. Lowe scored three touchdowns in the 25-14 win.

The other two games went according to form with Canyon whipping Dalhart, 33-7, and Muleshoe bopping Tulia, 24-12, the Hornets giving the Mules a good game of it.

Harlie Adams, Canyon halfback, took individual scoring honors this season with 21 touchdowns for 126 points or an average of slightly more than two touchdowns a game in 10 contests. Canyon's Don Britain was second with 101 points and Lowe finished third with 95.

The two upsets in District 1-AA play this season were Dalhart over Muleshoe and Dimmitt over Olton.

Both Dimmitt and Dalhart could be tough to handle next season. Most of the teams will turn to basketball now with Nov. 27 being the date most of the schools will be in full swing in the cage game.

West Texas State, after its heartbreaking 16-13 loss to Texas Western before the television cameras of KFDA-TV, will rest this weekend before finishing the season Dec. 1 against Midwestern in Wichita Falls.

Texas Tech, however, will face a tough opponent Saturday afternoon when Houston invades Lubbock. The Cougars tied Texas A&M, 14-14, for the only mar on the Aggie record. Houston will be out to avenge the 61-13 licking Tech handed the Cougars a couple seasons back. Last year Houston edged Tech, 7-0.

Texas Christian players held a meeting last week and decided to come back and they did by clipping Texas, 46-0, playing that one for their coach Abe Martin.

Martin had been hung in effigy last week following the loss to Texas Tech. But Jim Swink and company got on the right track Saturday to keep their Cotton Bowl chances very much alive. The Horned Frog players presented Martin with the game ball following the win over Texas.

The Texas players promised all that they would be ready for the Texas Aggies in their traditional Thanksgiving clash Nov. 29. The Longhorns knocked the Aggies out of the conference title last season.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

Now is the time to start pre-watering for next year's row crop since most wells are not used much during the winter months. Evaporation is also lower during cold weather. The water table is usually higher which cuts down on the lift or pumping head and lower the cost of irrigating.

Storing the water in the soil now is like putting money in the bank. Water can be stored to a depth of six feet with very little loss as most plant roots will grow down six feet.

To help hold the moisture you can raise crops which produce great quantities of crop residues. This residue worked into the soil will help increase the infiltration rate and also increase the water holding capacity.

Breaking up plow soles by mechanical means or by legumes will help to increase the infiltration rate and hold the runoff to a minimum. This can be done by chiseling or use of deep rooted legumes. The deep rooted legumes are alfalfa, and clover. All legume seed should be innoculated before planting to obtain maximum results.

For further information on length of irrigation runs and row direction, as well as the seeding rates on legumes, contact your Soil Conservation Service technicians.

Field Goal Spoils Homecoming

"West Texas was by far the best team we faced this year," was the comment of Texas Western coach Mike Brumbelow after his Miners won a story-book 16-13 football game at the Buffs' Homecoming Saturday afternoon.

And for what consolation it might be, figures of the game show that the Buffs thoroughly outplayed the Miners, especially in the first half. At half-time, West Texas has gained 222 yards to 43 for the visitors and led in first downs, 11-3. The Buffs led, 13-0.

However, after the half-time talks, Western came out and dominated play after scoring its first touchdown on a freak play. Midway of the third period, Bob Forrest tossed a pass that was intercepted by WT's Bobby Davis.

However, after taking a step, he juggled the ball and the Miners' Don Maynard grabbed it out of the air and streaked for a touchdown. That sparked the Miners to another touchdown in the fourth quarter.

It appeared the game would end in a 13-13 tie when the Buffs had the ball on their 20 with 30 seconds remaining. Bubba Hillman broke through the right side and gained eight yards. However, he fumbled and Western recovered on the 28.

Western promptly called time out with two seconds left and sent in freshman halfback Truman Hobbs. He booted the field goal 38 yards to give the Miners the comeback victory.

It was especially a bitter pill for 15 West Texas seniors playing their last homegame of the season. The game was viewed by 7,000 fans and vast TV audience. It was carried by KFDA-TV of Amarillo and marked the first game in the Panhandle to be televised.

Junior fullback Ron Mills was the big gun in the losing cause for West Texas. The White Deer speedster dashed 88 yards in the first quarter for a touchdown and the longest run of the game. In the second period, Bubba Hillman threw an 11-yard pass to halfback Dave Corley in the end zone for the Buffs' second and last score. Tommy Coffey converted after the first TD.

Time ran out on the Buffs in the first half when they had another drive end o nthe five. They had moved 41 yards in five plays but time ran out with a first and goal to go. The big gainer in the drive was a 20-yard screen pass to Jimmy Jones from Lindley Davis.

Saber-toothed tigers are now extinct.
